

Sampling of College Acceptances 2009

P. Bealo

Data from Cappex.Com

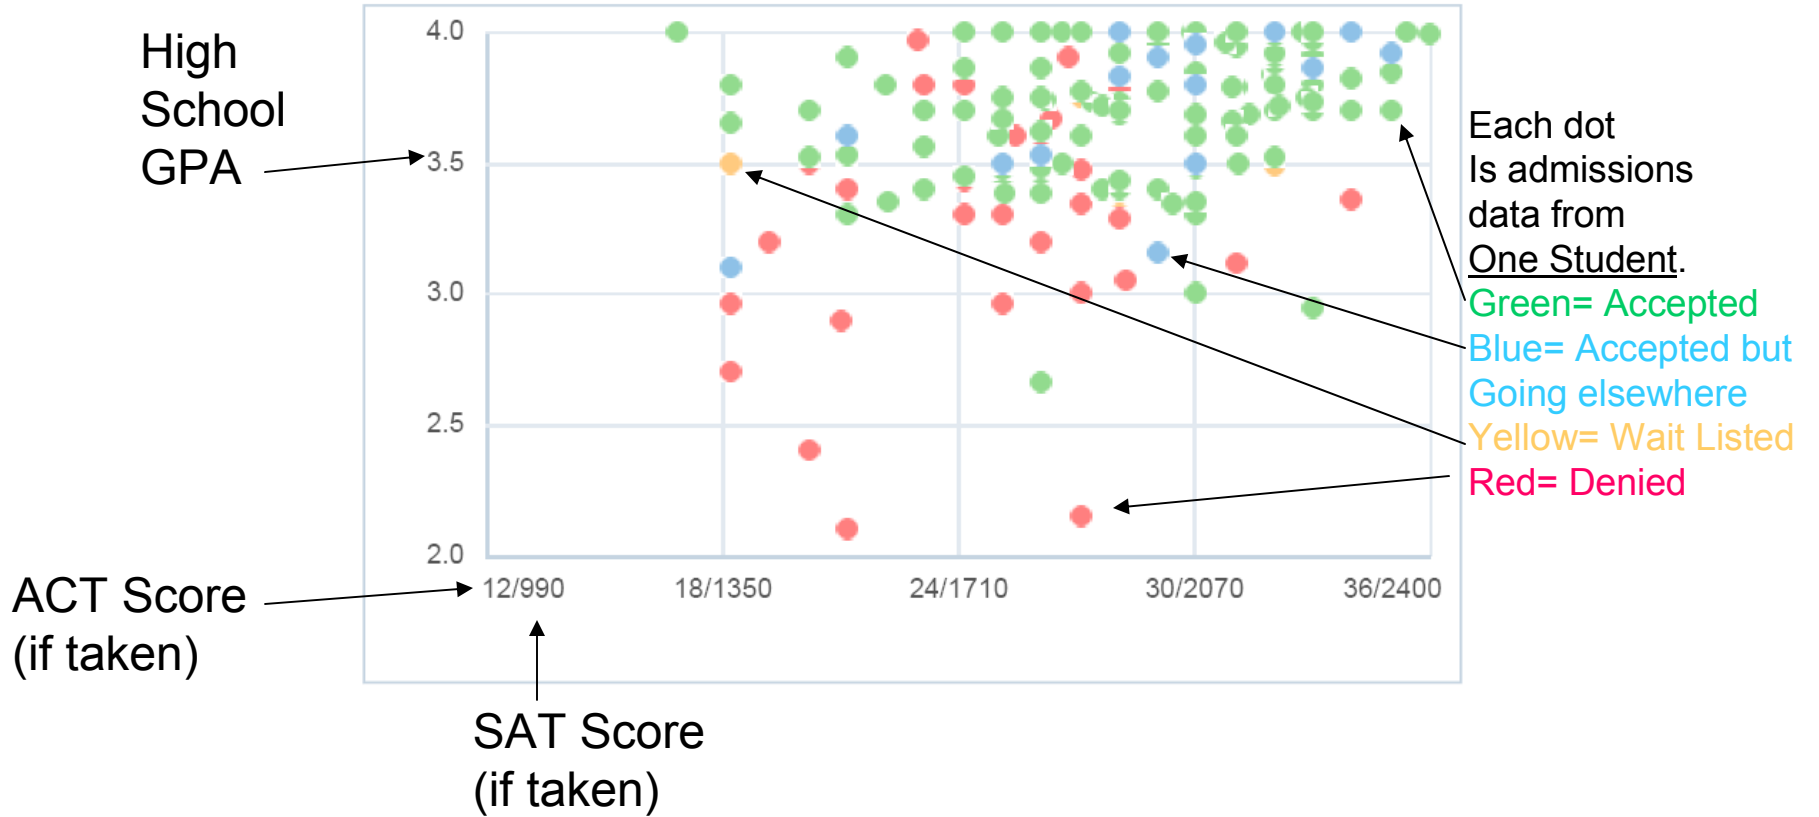

The charts below are by no means exhaustive, just a sample of college acceptances, rejections and wait listing by various categories of colleges and universities. Some of the choices (Northeastern and RIT in particular) are in here due to my own prejudices: I attended and graduated from them.

For information about any college not shown, register at WWW.Cappex.Com. It is a no-cost college search site that seems to have merit if for no other reason than your child's contact info and name is not given to any school until you explicitly allow it. The schools see your child's profile (which you enter) and then send a note expressing interest in being introduced to your child. You decide whether or not the contact info is sent to the schools.
